Living polymerization: A chain polymerization from which chain transfer and chain termination are absent.

Note: In many cases, the rate of chain initiation is fast compared with the rate of chain propagation, so that the number of kinetic-chain carriers is essentially constant throughout the polymerization.

An epoxide is a cyclic ether with a three-atom ring. This ring approximates an equilateral triangle, which makes it strained, and hence highly reactive, more so than other ethers.

A high-utility process - ring-opening polymerization (ROP) has also been experimented with photoswitchable catalysts setting the target to achieve engineered microstructure and property of the resulting polymers. However, only modulation of rate has been reported by utilizing the above-mentioned concepts.

PLA Production. Lactic acid (2-hydroxy propionic acid), the single monomer of PLA, is produced via fermentation or chemical synthesis. Its 2 optically active configurations, the L(+) and D(-) stereoisomers are produced by bacterial (homofermentative and heterofermentative) fermentation of carbohydrates.
